

Euromaglia was established in 1980 - it is a family business at its 3rd generation, specialized in the production of knits, woven and fancy fabrics sold all over the world.

Euromaglia strongly believes in innovation, research, new experiments and mostly in the high quality of its products - proudly Made in Italy.

In fact, Euromaglia invests lots of its resources in a continuous renewal of our collections, offering a great variety of different articles from lightweight ones to the heavy for coats, with special compositions and finishing.

One of the main points of the company is using highly specialized finishing plants, which give peculiar and very original manufactures, as well as a very competent and qualified internal team controlling both the raw material as well as the finished product.

Euromaglia is focused on the respect of the environment and of the workers rights - Starting from 2006 produces an Ethic-Eco Friendly line called "...because we care." made of sustainable, organic, recycled fibres certified by Oeko-tex, Gots, GRS and many other institutions. We use trade marked yarns like Ecovero® viscose from FSC, Newlife® recycled polyester, Q-Nova® recycled polyamide, Roica® recycled elastane, Bemberg® and so on.

On year 2011 Euromaglia won the Grand Jury Prize at Premiere Vision Paris exposition. An innovative, creative and original company with a great professionalism and also a dynamic structure able to offer to its clients the maximum level of efficiency and high quality products.

Our Company complies with Italian UNI 7249:2007 standards which assess health and safety on the workplace.

Another mainstay of our commitment to health and safety is our security management system based on UNI/INAIL standards. This health and safety management system enables us to systematically plan and manage our occupational health and safety performance.
